Mayor Williams Meets with Lieutenant Governor Patrick

ABILENE, Texas - Mayor Williams met with Lieutenant Governor Patrick in Austin on Wednesday, December 6, 2017 for the first of many conversations on improved collaboration between State and local government.

Along with mayors from multiple cities including Arlington and Lubbock, Mayor Williams discussed how a more intimate relationship between State and local government will benefit all moving forward. This conversation, opening the door for collaboration and communication between State and local government, is a great example of the City of Abilene's commitment to work with our elected officials at every level to better serve our citizens.
